

What is the GPO Historic Shelflist?

The GPO Historic Shelflist is the GPO's historic card catalog covering U.S. Government documents identified for the FDLP and C&I Program from the 1870's –Oct. 1992.

The records created from these Shelflist cards have minimal bibliographic information, one authorized Library of Congress Subject Heading and one authorized name authority. All records have a Superintendent of Documents classification number. Some records have a GPO depository item number, and others do not, because many publications pre-date the creation and use of depository item numbers in the FDLP. These records do not have corresponding OCLC numbers.

Libraries that have older, uncataloged collections are ideal for selecting this option.
